Tombstone, Cochise County, Arizona.

The "Epitaph" is the only newspaper in Arizona, with exception of the Tucson Citizen and Star, that receives regular Press Dispatches.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER

The railroad war is over and travelers will now again have to pay full fares.

Satirical item from the Tucson Star: Hank Smith, the popular superintendent of the Bonanza mines, is in the city.

It is presumed that the "black list" will be pulled down at the next meeting of the Nash league.

Ross, the Governor of New Mexico, has been confirmed by the Senate. It will be Zulick's turn next—perhaps.

It is now said that Manning will turn permanently to the Treasury shortly after he shall have fully recovered.

Our contemporary, the Democrat, at length descended from the fence and declared itself against the conduct of the Nash Boycotting League.

Much has been said of the wonderful endurance of the Apaches. It would be interesting to match one of these Indians against some of our best long distance walkers.

The republicans of Wisconsin have carried nearly all the spring election, even sweeping Milwaukee. The democrats say it is all the fault of Vilas and Bragg.

The EPITAPH office was favored with a pleasant call yesterday from Bishop Dunlop. The Bishop is at present stationed at Albuquerque. Before going that place he was at Santa Fe. Whenever stationed he never fails to seek the esteem and regard of the community.

As announced in the EPITAPH yesterday the Senate has confirmed the nomination of Zack Montgomery, the avowed enemy of that bulwark of our civilization, the public school system. The Republican Senate, since the creation of the body, was never guilty of so disreputable an action as this.

The House Committee on Agriculture will report favorably the bill to regulate the traffic in fraudulent butter, or "old margarine." The bill imposes annual taxes on manufacturers and dealers, and provides for the stamping and branding of packages under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Heavy fines are imposed for violations of the provisions of this act.

As will be seen from our telegraphic column, General Miles has taken some decisive steps toward quelling the Indian outbreak. In the short space of time since he assumed command, the General has done more of a practical nature than was effected by General Crook during the whole campaign. The orders issued by General Miles show that he is alive to the necessities of the situation, and his action will inspire confidence among our people.

As we have previously remarked, Tombstone does not by any means depend entirely on its mines, however great those may be and undoubtedly are. Tombstone is the centre of the richest stock-raising country in the southwest. In the Sulphur Springs and San Pedro valleys are also many thousand acres of fertile land, on which grain and other produce may be raised in more than sufficient quantities to supply the towns of this section, which always furnish a market at good prices. By virtue of her location, Tombstone is the natural trading point for Eastern Sonora and for a large section of rich country extending into New Mexico. Then, our magnificent climate—mild in winter and bracing in summer—makes this point a sanitarium for the enervated inhabitants of the lower valleys. All these things should and must ensure to our city a brilliant future. There is, however one thing needed, before these things can be fully utilized. That thing is capital. To secure capital, there must be harmony and good-will among our citizens. Capital is timid. Like Eve, it "will be wooed and not unsought be won." It will never seek investment here, as long as there is bickering, jealousy and quarreling among ourselves. Let us all make up our minds to pull together in drawing the attention of outsiders to the great resources of this section. Tombstone will then soon become what she should be—the leading city of the extreme southwest.

begged for mercy, but the terrible blood-stained axe whirled in the air, and went crashing into the fragile little head. The eighteen year old daughter then locked the baby in an adjoining room and ran screaming outside to her father. After a terrible struggle the woman was secured. One of the children is dead, and the others are likely to die before morning. Mrs. Smith herself is in a precarious condition.

Increased Wages.

Jersey City, April 24th.—Matthewson & Weichers, Sugar Refining Company, announced to-day an increase of ten per cent to the wages of eighteen hundred men, employed by them. To take effect May 1st.

An Unconciliatory Reply.

ATHENS, April 24.—The chamber of deputies has voted all the bills for military preparations. The minister of war has resigned. The government has sent an uncompromising reply to the note of the Powers, insisting upon the execution of the Berlin treaty.

Denial from the Pope.

ROME, April 24.—Cardinal Jacobini, Papal Secretary of State, has authorized the London Tablet to declare that the statement that the Pope had ordered the sacred congregation on ecclesiastical affairs to study the Irish question in view of Mr. Gladstone's home rule bill, was without any foundation whatever.
